Pedro M. S. Alves

Fenomenología de la percepción Maurice Merleau-Ponty,1957

¿Una fenomenología realista de la percepción? Tarcísio Porto Nogueira,2024-07-16 El libro propone un abordaje de la Fenomenología de la percepción desde la primera obra fenomenológica de Merleau-Ponty recuperando el concepto aristotélico de sensación como respuesta a posibles inconsistencias en el pensamiento del autor. En una primera parte, se expone el pensamiento de Merleau-Ponty, poniéndose de manifiesto el enorme componente existencial implicado en la percepción de un objeto. Luego, se incorpora en la noción aristotélica de sensación como propuesta para dar solución a las dificultades que Merleau-Ponty dejaría irresueltas respecto de las condiciones de posibilidad de la percepción. Se intenta, entonces, describir, sin postulaciones ni sobresaltos, la transición de la Fenomenología a la metafísica, evitándose privilegiar una en menoscabo de la otra, y mostrando más bien su útil e incluso necesaria complementariedad.

EL MUNDO DE LA PERCEPCION MAURICE MERLEAU-PONTY,

Phenomenology of Perception Maurice Merleau-Ponty,1962 First published in 1945, Maurice Merleau-Ponty's monumental book signalled the arrival of a major new philosophical and intellectual voice in post-war Europe. Breaking with the prevailing picture of existentialism and phenomenology at the time, it has become one of the landmark works of twentieth-century thought. -- Book Jacket.

Cuestiones de Percepción Steven Holl,2018-09 En 1994, la prestigiosa revista japonesa de arquitectura a+u dedicó un número especial a la percepción en arquitectura en el que participaron Alberto Pérez-Gómez, Juhani Pallasmaa y Steven Holl. Este libro recoge la aportación que Holl hizo para el celebrado monográfico, donde se desmarcaba radicalmente del encendido debate abierto a raíz de la introducción de los nuevos medios digitales en los estudios de arquitectura, situando el foco de atención en el papel crucial que la percepción, la experiencia fenoménica y la intuición desempeñan en la experiencia y en la formación perceptiva del espacio construido. Junto al análisis de unas zonas fenoménicas, que se corresponderían con los diferentes hechos perceptivos, Holl relata su experiencia directa con la arquitectura a través de numerosos ejemplos biográficos, exponiendo los matices perceptivos que justifican la concepción fenomenológica de la arquitectura.

The World of Perception Maurice Merleau-Ponty, 2020-07-24 'In simple prose Merleau-Ponty touches on his principle themes. He speaks about the body and the world, the coexistence of space and things, the unfortunate optimism of science - and also the insidious stickiness of honey, and the mystery of anger.' - James Elkins Maurice Merleau-Ponty was one of the most important thinkers of the post-war era. Central to his thought was the idea that human understanding comes from our bodily experience of the world that we perceive: a deceptively simple argument, perhaps, but one that he felt had to be made in the wake of attacks from contemporary science and the philosophy of Descartes on the reliability of human perception. From this starting point, Merleau-Ponty presented these seven lectures on The World of Perception to French radio listeners in 1948. Available in a paperback English translation for the first time in the Routledge Classics series to mark the centenary of Merleau-Ponty's birth, this is a dazzling and accessible guide to a whole universe of experience, from the pursuit of scientific knowledge, through the psychic life of animals to the glories of the art of Paul Cézanne.

Phenomenology of Perception (Classic Reprint) Maurice Merleau-Ponty, 2017-09-17 These are the codified thoughts that allowed Maurice Merleau-Ponty the opportunity to establish himself as a first rate philosopher. The world of philosophy has neglected the body for centuries, if not millennia, Phenomenology of Perception brings the most central part of our world back into the way we think about it. He crashed onto the scene and burned some of the most darling philosophical landmarks of his forebears in effigy. This book is generally held to be a decisive example of existentialism, particularly existentialist work in the French fashion, although there is far more than the vague imagined scent of a galloise on the pages. Existentialism is far from the only influence on the work. The discerning reader will see echoes of Plato's forms in Merleau-Ponty's essences and even an implicit critique of the idea. For the philosopher en chaise, the daring criticism of even Cartesian doubt is thrilling; it feels like jumping on the bed while Socrates isn't looking. Merleau-Ponty utterly rejects the mind-body duality put forward by so many of the giants of our philosophical ancestry in favour of an argument which emphasises the instrumental aspects of consciousness and our full and visceral habitation of our flesh. Gnow on the questions that he will raise in your mind about whether huge assumptions have been made about the nature of consciousness and how that links to our physical selves. If only for a moment, throw your perceived certainties aside and engage with the idea that your very consciousness may not be what you think. Perception and its Development in Merleau-Ponty's Phemenology Kirsten Jacobson, John Russon, 2017-06-30 French phenomenologist Maurice Merleau-Ponty (1908-1961) shifted the terrain of western philosophy when he identified the body, rather than consciousness, as the primary site of our meaningful engagement with the world. His magnum opus, The Phenomenology of Perception (1945), revolutionized work in philosophy, psychology, cognitive science and other fields. Perception and Its Development in Merleau-Ponty's Phenomenology brings together essays from fifteen leading Merleau-Ponty scholars to demonstrate the continuing significance of Merleau-Ponty's analysis. Mirroring the progression found in Merleau-Ponty's Phenomenology of Perception, the essays in this volume engage in original phenomenological research to demonstrate the dynamic development of perceptual life from perception's most foundational forms (spatiality, temporality, intentionality, etc.) to its richest articulations in political life and artistic activity. This comprehensive volume is a powerful resource for students and scholars alike studying Merleau-Ponty's philosophy and serves both as a commentary upon and companion to his The Phenomenology of Perception.

The Logos of the Sensible World John Sallis, 2019-03-05 This volume of the collected writings of John Sallis presents a two-semester lecture course on Maurice Merleau-Ponty given at Duquesne University from 1970 to 1971. Devoted primarily to a close reading of the French philosopher's magnum opus, Phenomenology of Perception, the course begins with a detailed analysis of The Structure of Behavior. The central topics considered in the lectures include the functions of the phenomenological body; beyond realism and idealism; the structures of the lived world; spatiality, temporality, language, sexuality; and perception and knowledge. Sallis illuminates Merleau-Ponty's first two works and offers a thread to follow through developments in his later essays. Merleau-Ponty's notion of the primacy of perception and his claim that the end of a philosophy is the account of its beginning are woven throughout the lectures. For Sallis's part, these lectures are foundational for his extended engagement with Merleau-Ponty's The Visible and the Invisible, which was published in Sallis's Phenomenology and the Return to Beginnings.

Explorando la Fenomenología del Cuerpo. La Dualidad Irreductible de la Conciencia y el Objeto en la Manifestación del Ser según Husserl Anaïs Di Martinessa, 2024-08-20 Texto Academico del año 2024 en el tema Filosofía - Teoría (cognición, ciencia, lógica, idioma), , Idioma: Español, Resumen: Objetivo de la ponencia: Explorar cómo la fenomenología del cuerpo nos ofrece una comprensión más profunda de nuestra existencia, percepción y acción en el mundo. Para delimitar aún más este ámbito de la evidencia en que se realiza la manifestación del ser y su aprehensión, Husserl ha practicado sucesivas epojés, hasta quedarse en la dualidad pura de conciencia trascendental--o condicionante de la manifestación- y objeto, como último e irreductible correlato trascendente de aquélla. Tal la dualidad irreductible de la conciencia, objeto de la Fenomenología como ciencia estricta.
